Cast For 'The Redemption' Enters Final Rehearsals

WM. HANSON AND MISS SUMMERHAYS
WILL PRESENT BEAUTIFUL ORATORIO
TUESDAY EVENING IN COLLEGE HALL

by John M. Freckleton

The sacred theme of Christ's atonement for mankind will be told when Brigham Young university summer school's production of the oratorio, "The Redemption," by Charles Gunod, is given in College hall, Tuesday evening, July 18, at 8:15 p. m. Director will be Professor William F. Hanson, in charge of summer school music.

A large chorus of fifty voices will be used, and twelve solo singers will appear in solo roles. A full orchestra will be used as accompaniment and for interludes and pre-

"The Redemption" is made up of three parts, Calvary, From the Resurrection to the Ascension, and The Pentecost. Gunod, in personally written notes on his oratorio, relates that the idea of composing a musical work on the theme of the Redemption occurred to him in the fall of the year 1867, but it was not until 1870 that he began the task was completed.

Gunod, who wrote not only the music but the words of "The Redemption," describes the masterpiece as a "typical setting-forces of the three great facts on which depends the existence of the Christian Church. These facts are: 1. The Passion and Death of the Savior; 2. His glorious rise from earth to His Resurrection to His Ascension; 3. The spread of Christianity through the mission of the Apostles."

"The Redemption" is considered one of the world's most pleasing oratorios. Presented by the summer school in previous seasons have been the oratorio "The Crucifixion."

John C. Swenson Back From Tour

Prof. John C. Swenson, head of the B. Y. U. sociology department, has returned from an extensive tour of this country during the past eight weeks. Accompanied by his son Dick, Prof. Swenson visited both world fairs and most of the states in the union besides a trip to Mexico city.

During the tour, Prof. Swenson visited his son, Albert, who is a student at the Louisiana State college, center of a recent graft scandal.

Before returning home, he attended the National Education association convention at San Francisco.

Provo Men Receive Stanford Degrees

Jesse Knight Allen of Provo, a 1926 graduate of B.Y.U., received his degree of doctor of philosophy in business administration from the Stanford university graduate school, according to the Stanford alumni bulletin of July. Only two received the honor this spring.

Also listed in the bulletin as recipients of master of business administration degrees are Wells Brimhall a graduate of the college of commerce of B. Y. U. in 1937, and Philip Slater Knight, a 1936 graduate, Mr. Brimhall and Mr. Knight are both from Provo.

According to the report, Mr. Brimhall has been working since March for the Montgomery Ward company in Oakland and Mr. Knight has position with the Utah Power and Light company in Salt Lake City.

B. T. HIGGS DIES FOLLOWING CAR ACCIDENT

VETERAN HAS SERVED
B.Y.U. 44 YEARS

B. T. Higgs, 81 year old veteran superintendent of buildings and grounds for B. Y. U., died Wednesday afternoon at the Harbor hospital following injuries received ten days ago in an automobile accident while returning from the Strawberry reservoir. Funeral arrangements have been set for 1 p. m. Saturday in the Manawa ward chapel. Friends may call at the family residence 368 East 5th North prior to the services.

Mr. Higgs has been a familiar character on the Brigham Young university campus for several generations and has seen the school grow from a humble beginning of a hundred students and less than a dozen teachers to its present sphere of influence extending over many states of the Union, Canada, Mexico and other foreign countries.

In the fall of 1895 Mr. Higgs came to Provo to run the boilers and take care of the school building. He demonstrated his versatility when he accepted the call to help out as a teacher of a wood work course. He continued the work for a number of years, in addition to his regular duties as custodian and superintendent of buildings and grounds.

Hundreds of boys have been benefited by coming under the influence in his woodwork courses and also as part-time janitors. He has evolved a philosophy of life through his contacts with young men.

Swedish Scholarship Takes Y Grad Abroad

Morris Sorenson, a '39 B. Y. U. graduate from Ephraim, has received notice that a scholarship has been granted him to Lund university in Sweden. Only a limited number of eligible students are accepted into that institution. Morris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sorenson.

While at the "Y," Mr. Sorenson was secretary of the Delta Phi honorary missionary fraternity, and a member of the Viking social unit.

Pre-Timp Program Offered At Aspen Grove Tonight

Twenty-eight Brigham Young university co-eds under the direction of Miss Leona Holbrook of the women's physical education, will dance the Fire Ceremonial at the Timpanogos Hotel Provo Friday night. New costumes have been obtained for this highlight of the pre-like event, according to Miss Holbrook.

Alpine Campus Now Prepared

Brigham Young university's Alpine campus on the north slope of Timpanogos is rapidly being made ready for the six week session there, according to Dean Herald R. Clark, who has charge of the term. Instruction there will start July 25.

Dean Clark reports that a crew of men have been working on the grounds for the past month, putting the six dormitories, the dining hall and the class rooms in first class condition. During the next two weeks supplies will be taken up to the campus for the opening of the session.

Certain sciences are featured in the instruction at the Alpine campus, chiefly botany, zoology, physics and geology. Courses in economics, sociology, history, education and religion, together with the varied and interesting assembly lectures and demonstrations provide a good balance, according to Dean Clark.

Students may either live in the dormitories at the Alpine campus or they may commute by school bus from Provo city. Camping privileges are allowed married couples who are attending the session.

Dean Clark expects about 300 students at the Alpine term this summer, many of whom will be out-of-staters.

Visiting Entomologist Praises Y Collection Of 215,000 Specimens

Dr. Joseph Knuff, curator of the entomological collection at Ohio State university, was a visitor here last week and spent a day with Dr. Vasco M. Tanner examining the wood boring beetle collection at B. Y. U.

Dr. Knuff is an authority on the beetle and found the collection at B.Y.U. very interesting. From 215 to 220 thousand pine specimens have been gathered by Dr. Tanner and his aids. According to Dr. Knuff, the collection is known all over the country and is said to be one of the most complete in the world.

The program, to which many thousands are expected to come, is under the general direction of Dr. Alonso J. Morley of the B. Y. U. speech department.

Chairman C. J. Hart today announced that Hugh Ross, veteran fireworks expert would set off the bombs telling the age of the hike Twenty-eight rockets will be fired—and one to "grow on."

The program will include a concert by the Provo high school band, under direction of Wesley Weaver; community singing led by Professor William F. Hanson; character dances in charge of Leona Holbrook, B. Y. U.; saxophone solo, Ellen Caboon; purpose of the hike and advice to hikers, Director Hart.

Recess program, Homer Wakefield; acrobatic act; Hawaiian trio, under direction of Kapu Keake; character dance, Miss Holbrook, B. Y. U.; saxophone quartet; saxophone solo, Mr. Johnson; testimonial to the late H. R. Merrill; presentation of Timp slides; chorus from Spanish Fork, direction of Prof. F. J. Fox; firing of hike salutes, fire fighting ceremony and benediction.

This year it was hoped that many people would take advantage of the afternoon and spend it at Aspen Grove waiting for the program to start and enjoying a picnic. He also said that blankets should be brought along for the nights there are quite chilly. Space will be provided those who wish to camp overnight. C. S. special section of

TWO BIRDS WITH ONE STONE

An ideal fusion of school and vacation is effected during the second term of summer school on the Alpine campus of B. Y. U. at Aspen Grove. Allowing for double use of precious time, this session affords enriching study in a stimulating and healthful setting that is unequalled in natural beauty. Physical and mental vigor are the additional rewards found at the lofty 7000 foot school.

COLOR OR COMFORT?

Have you noticed the symphony of color in the complexities of those people who climbed Timpanogos last Sunday on the hottest day of the summer? It is comparatively easy to select the persons who hiked in the sunlight, (they thought it was moonlight all the time), because they furtively tread around the campus emanating a roseate glow that ranges from a high pink to a deep purple.

Besides adding color to the campus, these friends silently, though glowingly, remind the rest of us that people sunburn more easily than they suppose in the mountains. Therefore don't allow yourself to be over-exposed to the sun's rays tomorrow on the Timpanogos trail. Enjoy the hike without having a personal burning reminder of it during the following week. At the same time avoid having to use a wheel chair by resting often enroute to the summit. It would be a shame to rush to the top and back again without taking time to look at the beautiful scenery.

VOCAUTION BOOKLETS

Listing more than 150 occupations and professions that training is necessary for, the B. Y. U. quarterly Messenger was being mailed out this week. Entitled "Your Work in the World," the booklet was written, edited and printed by the university staff.

Franklin Haymes, manager of the university press which handled the printing, said that more than 15,000 of the messengers had come off the presses. They will be sent to students, alumni, and prospective students of the university.

"Pop" Martin's contagious enthusiasm plus his extraordinary skill on the accordion made the Canyon Glen ring with choruses from "Old King Cole" to "A Bicycle Built for Two."

Dr. Frey, a good sport, as usual, was a real asset to his team on the soft ball court (or is it diamond?). Speaking of the flies he caught, you should have seen some of the mosquitoes we caught! — All of which brings to mind this week's Post's comment on that base of picknickers:

Mosquito
This insect is so hateful
It's a mystery who needs him;
He also is ungrateful,
For he bites the hand that feeds him!

Through the unofficial grapevine comes that on Wednesday our student body may enjoy dancing under the stars at Rainbow Gardens. The prospect of a gentle breeze adds much to our enthusiasm.

Friends of Miss Gladys Kotter are pleased to hear that she is making a rapid recovery after a "Surprise" appendectomy last week.

Garbled Collettings

by Farrell Collett

Rumor rears its ugly head and whispers that on Wednesday night, next, the student body of the summer session is meeting (unofficially, of course) for a last dance at the Rainbow Gardens.

A tip to hitch-hikers: A pretty girl on one arm and a wheel under the other will be an unbeatatable combination on any highway for getting a prompt lift. Ask Lew Rich and Dorothy Nelson for verification.

The passing of Brigham T. Higgs comes as a shock to the writer. "Brother Higgs," as he was affectionately known around the campus to hundreds of students, had completed a half a century of service to the institution of which he was proud to be a part.

Hike Of Varied Interests Promised at Timp

The ecological equivalent of a trip to the arctic regions — all in the course of a morning's hike — is promised those who go on the annual Timpanogos Hike sponsored by the B. Y. U. and scheduled for tonight and tomorrow.

Professor Charles J. Hart, general chairman of the hike, says that it has been estimated that for each 50 feet of elevation in the climb, that a change about the same occurs as does in traveling 200 miles to the north. Through the different elevations, four distinct zones can be noted. Students point out that Utah is the main line in the transition zone.

As the trail climbs upward, the Canadian zone, the Hudsonian zone, and the Alpine-Arctic zone are all noticeable and fairly well defined.

At about 10,000 feet where the moisture is the greatest, the most luxuriant plant growth may be seen. Approximately 35 inches of precipitation falls at this level, yearly.

Such animals and birds as the grey fox, the Utah chipmunk, the flying squirrel, the Golden Eagle, the Green Tailed Towhee, sage hens, porcupines, snow shoe rabbits and the most beautiful of all American song birds, the Audubon Warbler may be seen on the hike, according to Dr. D. Eldon Beck, assistant professor of zoology at B. Y. U.

Dr. Beck also states that the insect life at the high levels is much more colorful than at lower heights. Especially beautiful are the blue butterflies high up on the slope of Timpanogos.

Cruising Around with "Vic"

by William A. Forsyth

A survey at the University of Chicago shows one-third of the students there last year preferred symphonic music to swing.

Some girls are not afraid of mice — others have pretty legs.

"What is home without a mother?" asked the good-looking young man. "Well," replied the sweet young thing, "I am tonight."

A smart man is one who hasn't let a woman pin anything on him since he was a baby.

Mrs. Hazel Boyack Honored Thursday

A reception in honor of Mrs. Hazel Boyack, donor of a medal for outstanding home economics students at B. Y. U., was given by the home economics department yesterday afternoon, on the south lawn of the education building.

Since her graduation in 1922, Mrs. Boyack has annually awarded a gold medal to the most efficient senior student enrolled in the home economics department.

All present and former students of the department were invited to the informal reception.

Moonlight Hike Attracts Students

Fifty-five B. Y. U. summer school students participated in a romantic moonlight hike last Friday night to the Y on the mountain and on to Maple Plate. The party was arranged by Willie Stevens, president of the student body.

Starting at 9 p. m. the group stopped at the big letter and sang while resting. About 45 of the 55 continued on to Maple Plate while the rest returned to Provo.

Some stayed at the Plate to watch the sunrise and to eat breakfast, and other hikers returned home in the moonlight.

The hike was scheduled as a "warm-up" for the annual Triunfo Hike which is set for tonight and tomorrow. More than 1000 people are expected to trek to the top of Timpano and receive official "summit" badges.

Dormitories Hold Canyon Frolic

Residents of the two dormitories at B. Y. U., Allen Hall and Amanda Knight hall, participated in a treasure hunt and steak fry at Canyon Glen in Provo canyon Tuesday evening.

In charge of the arrangements were Dorothy Nelson, Ogden, chairman, assisted by Della Willis, and Orna LeSueur of Mesa, Arizona; Farrell Collett of Ogden, Lewis Rich of Morgan, Neal Peterson, Alumni Secretary; John Landward, San Francisco, Hattie Marrell, Logan; Leah Curtis, Victor Idaho and Richmond Anderson of Richfield.

Plans were made for about 100 guests with softball, horse shoes, and musical entertainment arranged for. Veri Martin played his accordion as an accompaniment for community singing.

The treasure hunt started at 5:30 p. m. at the women's dorm and was continued at the canyon retreat.

Brown, Madsen, and Conover Selected For Foreign Service

Donald L. Brown and Russell J. Madsen, B. Y. U. students of Provo First Ward have accepted calls to the Argentine L. D. S. mission. They will sail from New Orleans on July 22.

Both boys have been active at this school. Mr. Brown is a sophomore and a member of the Glee Y service fraternity, Mr. Madsen graduated last June from Y. U. and was a member of the Tansig social unit. W. Ernest Young, former president of the Argentine mission, and now attending summer school, was the principal speaker at the Sunday night program in honor of the boys.

Don Conover Too

Don W. Conover, Jr., a '39 graduate of B. Y. U., is leaving Provo Fifth ward for the Hawaiian mission July 16. He is a member of the Brigham's social unit. For the past two years he has been doing special work as assistant laboratory instructor in the botany department.

Robertson's Work Draws Attention

The Second Symphony composed by Professor LeRoy Robertson, of the B. Y. U. music department, will be studied by Montaux, conductor of the San Francisco symphony orchestra, it was revealed today following Professor Robertson's return from the National Education Association convention at San Francisco.

Recommended to Montaux by E. Robert Schmitt, celebrated pianist who appeared in Provo this spring on a byernum program, the symphony was completed a short while ago. When Mr. Schmitt saw it, the work was unfinished, but he recommended it to the conductor nevertheless.

Professor Robertson was a delegate from the B. Y. U. to the N. E. A. convention which was held all last week. Following the convention, he spent a day visiting the World's Fair on Treasure Island.

Y Grad Awarded Art Scholarship

Thomas Eastmond, son of Mrs. Margaret H. Eastmond of Provo and the late Professor E. H. Eastmond, has been awarded a three-year scholarship to the Art Center school in Los Angeles. It was learned recently that Mr. Eastmond is a B. V. U. graduate of 1937 and is spending the summer in Provo.

In competition with about 45 students of art, he was one of eight chosen for the scholarships. He is studying advertising illustration work at the Los Angeles school.

Mr. Eastmond will return to Los Angeles about the middle of August to resume his studies.

Y Commerce Grad Goes To Harvard

Herman R. Carpenter of Park City, 1939 graduate of the college of commerce, has been awarded a $300 service scholarship to the graduate school of business at Harvard, according to Dean H. R. Clark.

The scholarship, one of two Harvard awards made in Utah yearly, will enable Mr. Carpenter to work in the department at the eastern school. He has been employed at B. V. U. as a secretary to Dr. H. Val Hoyt of the marketing department.

Employed for the summer at the mines in Park City, Mr. Carpenter will leave for the east in mid-September.
